Comments: I am a 63 year old retired MD who, in spite of growing up in an eastern city (Pittsburgh), has come to appreciate the beauty that UNTOUCHED forest lands provide a connection to a spiritual essence that appears to be missing from much of American society.

This same spiritual essence CANNOT be found in forests that have been roaded and logged by megacorporations whose concern for these natural areas only extends as far as a profit and loss statement accounting statement.

The world's economies that require more resources should look elsewhere.

The only appropriate option for this Alaska Roadless Rulemaking #54511 is OPTION 1.
