Comments: The US Forest Service has an important job in protecting the natural resources in our country. These resources include our forests and all the biodiversity which resides within. Natural lands contribute and support clean air and water for life. We need wide areas to remain wild. As has been shown throughout the world, when roads are opened up in wild spaces, the natural area and all the biodiversity that resides within suffers.

I am totally against opening up these areas to roads and any logging or poaching that will follow.
