Comments: first of all, why do you and why would you, want to destroy one of the largest untouched old growth forests in the northern hemisphere, let alone the United States? especially for the sake of greed! the lumber industry in Alaska is but a minute fraction of Alaska's economy! there are vast areas that are available to logging interests in Alaska, without jeopardizing the Tongas National Forest! PLEASE do not make any changes to the roadless rule to exempt this beautiful, untouched place, or any other untouched, old growth forests, for that matter! leave them wild so that you kids and grandkids (and mine and everyone else's kids) can enjoy them forever! thank you
