Comments: I used to live in SE Alaska and I'm not sure if this proposal breaks my heart, disgusts me or angers me more but it's certainly a combination all of those feelings. Putting aside the natural beauty of the place, ignoring that bears, salmon, eagles and whales will be impacted by this, I want to focus only on the bigger picture and it's simple: trees absorb carbon and right now we are on track to kill the planet by releasing more carbon emissions that the planet can handle. We need trees for most life - certainly humans and the animals mentioned above - to survive. The science has been agreed on for decades. You know this. And yet you would sell out life on earth for short-term profits that only benefit a few rich assholes. This is beyond shameful. It's insane. It's deadly - and you know it.
