

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/23/2019 8:00:00 AM

First name: Adam

Last name: Smith

Organization:

Title:

Comments: I think it is unconscionable that the federal government is considering destruction of old-growth forests in the US, particularly in light of the global climate emergency. The roadless rule should be allowed to stand so that the forest can continue to act as a carbon sink and so that risks to bio-diversity can be mitigated.

[Position]

[Position]