Comments: This plan will destroy spawning streams and rivers. Any Positive economic impact on S.E Alaska will be minimal., considering the endangered salmon runs that already exist. the Damage to the fishing industry will be far greater that any positive economics resulting from logging. It takes several lifetimes in this environment for regeneration of the forest, even with active planting, which I doubt will be considered. We need to see what's driving this, and where the money is going to understand the driving force. Like most of these schemes, a few will benefit, to the harm of the many. Shame on the forest service for even entertaining the prospect. I am absolutely opposed to the measure.
