Comments: The importance of leaving elder forests untouched cannot be overstated. We dont need the wood. Profit over preservation is a deadly venture, for the forests, its inhabitants, and eventually, the rest of us. I have two kids, and my 11 year-old stresses daily about whether she will get to see what I have. I tell her of times the sky was dark with flocks of birds. Those times are rare now.Im sure there is something else to be made money off of there. Just please let the trees be. Please.
