Comments: Logging should be limited at all costs. Especially if there is a loss forecast for revenue. Should spend money on developing synthetic wood or other type of material. At the minimum a hybrid tree that can grow much quicker.

If we deplete all the old growth forests it would be a mistake. Imagine telling my kids, your kids, sorry son, we cut all the trees down. Look to Easter Island.

I am not against wood or logging, but serious thought should be given to it. It takes 100's of years to grow a fine tree, only a minute to cut it down, and even less time to seal its fate.

Preservation should be first (especially the job of the NFS)
