

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/21/2019 8:00:00 AM

First name: Ceci

Last name: Logan

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Clear-cutting and road building in the Tongass national forest would be devastating to the wildlife and biodiversity. The costs outweigh the benefits. It is obvious from many perspectives that this cannot happen.

Some may think the many different species of fish and trees (and a multitude of other organisms) aren't worth stopping this project over, but if we let this one go, where does it end?

[Position]

[Position]