Comments: I recommend alternative number 1, no change in the roadless acres. The reasons to leave this area of land as pristine as possible are:

1. It is the best way to maintain the productive salmon fisheries in this region.
2. Any development of this area would produce carbon dioxide emissions, and preserving it will help to absorb carbon dioxide. Global warming from CO2 emissions is the single largest threat to our civilization, and lowering emissions is much more valuable than the lumber that could be harvested from this forest.

Thank you for your consideration.
