Comments: The greed of this administration knows no bounds and has no understanding of the ramifications of these eternally destructive decisions. Stop the insanity and protect these lands for the globe and future generations. Our lands are not to be pilfered away by madmen, they must be protected for longevity, and not for destroyed for someone's personal enrichment. Maybe the administration needs to take a field trip (without their social media devices) for a few days and see what is at stake to lose--forever, it won't grow back and can't be replanted. If you would only expose yourself to the natural beauty of our amazing wildernesses, maybe you would begin to see the harm of these types of decisions.
