Comments: I am a concerned citizen who would like to see no action taken on the status of Tongass National Forest. I have not yet had the opportunity to visit Alaska or its wilderness, but I would greatly enjoy the opportunity to do so in the future. If the roadless rule is removed, we will lose a part of our diminishing American natural beauty. It is critical that we choose to preserve as much wilderness as we have, and to practice conservation by harvesting timber from purposefully managed tracts rather than providing a chance for irresponsible actors to harm our natural resources.
