

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/29/2019 12:44:34 AM

First name: Peter

Last name: Lely

Organization:

Title:

Comments: It appears many of the comments would like to see unlimited off-road motorized travel to retrieve dead animals. My opinion is, regardless of your age or physical abilities, any hunter worth his salt has already figured out how to pack out any game animal, without having to drive beyond established roads. Sure, it would be nice to drive right up to a downed animal, but that is not always possible, and arrangements should be made beforehand to pack out an animal. This would include friends, horses, mules, or just do it yourself. If you cannot do this, then don't shoot an animal beyond the edge of a road. Just resign yourself to be a 'road hunter' like the majority of "hunters".

I believe that the motorized game retrieval, or 'retrieval' as is posted on the alternatives, is only catering to a small special interest group (lazy, unprepared hunters) and is not in the best interest of the majority of forest users.

Please remove motorized game retrieval from all alternatives.