Comments: We depend on you to regulate and protect our natural resources. This is the same wilderness that has influenced founding fathers, presidents, and young dreamers since before the inception of our United States. This organization, above any others, knows this to be true. More importantly, you understand why a connection to untamed wilderness has inspired countless generations to achieve the impossible. It seems we need this acreage of forest, and all the wonder it inspires, now more than ever. I pray that you are able to find a way, like those generations before, to achieve the impossible. I pray that you are able to save this land for us and future generations. We believe in you, and we stand behind you.
