Comments: I have read the alternatives listed by the USDA and do not agree that Alternative 6 is the best alternative. Untouched old growth forests are very important to me as they support the environment and the type of recreation that I like the most. Logging companies claim to be sustainable but can never reproduce old growth in an accurate way. I agree with Alternative 1. I am slightly annoyed that the details of alternative 2-5 are not more clear about the exemptions to the rule besides stating they will be more or less strict. I could see myself being okay with Alternative 2 but am appalled that the recommended course of action is Alternative 6.
