Comments: As a person of faith called on to steward life on the earth, as an American citizen and resident of planet earth, I ask you to allow the Tongass forest to remain entact to serve as North America's lungs supporting the vital fabric of life for the indigenous people and the creatures who share it. Timber is an insignificant commodity in comparison with the life giving function of the forest in water shed and the local and global eco systems. Thank you for preserving this significant forest.
