

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/21/2019 8:00:00 AM

First name: Denise

Last name: Lohser

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Alaska

I think option 1 is by far the best idea. Leave it be! Destroying the forest will only offer short term gains for a few people. It will destroy the habitats of endangered animals and will even harm the fishing and tourist industries. There are studies explaining how if we keep forests and other natural spaces intact we can help decrease global warming trends. I hope that you will do the right thing and put the planet & the lives of future generations over profits. Thank you for listening!

Sent from my iPhone

[Position]

[Position]