Comments: You are at war

Yes you are at war with those you are paid to protect: the residents of America's shrinking forests.

The Alaska Roadless Rule saves wildlife. There are few places where native life is free of the threats roads pose and the "invasion" of ever more people that inevitably follows.

Please select the "No Action" alternative instead of the sweeping changes that would completely remove the Tongass National Forest from roadless protections.

Do your job and protect, preserve, respect FORESTS. Don't pander to the greedy directives of politicians, industrialists, and other profiteers. They are not worth the life of a single Alexander Archipelago Wolf ... or Chipmunk for that matter.

I strongly urge the Forest Service to select Alternative 1, the "no-action" alternative.

Thank you,

Dolores Proubasta
