Comments: I strenuously urge you to leave the Tongass National Forest roadless. We and every other living thing on this whole planet rely on the clean water that comes from unspoiled national park lands.

What you are proposing is grotesque and I'm assuming on some level you know it, but you've convinced yourselves that you have the right to commodify for Alaskans or yourselves something that doesn't belong to any of us. I'm just not sure what you say to people who want this to be their professional legacy. I guess I'll just have to content myself with the fact that you are mortal and that wilderness will outlive you.
