

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 10/29/2019 5:29:40 PM

First name: lyndell

Last name: wilken

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Wilderness Permits

The Obsidian hiking club based in Eugene, Oregon is concerned about the issue below.

1. The Obsidian hiking club builds their hiking calendar several months/weeks in advance before we know who will sign up for the hike. The hike is posted online 3 weeks prior to the hike date at which time people can sign up. This poses a problem of not being able to include accurate names on a permit. In addition, people can drop out after signing up for the hike and others move into their place. Is there a way we could hold a permit at a set rate as a club which would not be tied to specific people except for the hike leader and alternate leader? This would give the club flexibility with there sign up process.

Lyndell Wilken

Obsidian President

Sent from my iPhone