Comments: comment on wilderness permits

To whom it may concern -

If these permits were to go into effect, which i'm sure they will no matter how many "against" arguments there are, i believe the processing fee for overnight camping permits should be the same as the day use. There's no reason rec.gov needs to charge a processing amount greater than the cost of the actual permit. If someone, or a family, is on a tight budget, the high overnight processing fee could prevent them from spending more nights in the wilderness.

Thank you for your time.
