Comments: Fee on new limited entry sites.

I'm not opposed to paying a fee to use the forests. I am, however, opposed to paying for permit after permit that state everything is covered, when it isn't!

A permit for Federal lands.

A permit for State lands

A permit for Forest Service Lands

A permit for Snow parks

A permit for camp ground parking at trail heads

I purchased my America the Beautiful pass on advice of the agency selling it, as they said it would cover everything - hoorah! Except it doesn't. It doesn't cover parking at trailheads inside of campgrounds. It doesn't cover launching a kayak from those campgrounds. It doesn't cover special interest sites like Terwilliger Hot Springs. It doesn't cover parking in a snow park (which, btw, is an extremely frustrating pass to purchase since it's only available at ski lodges and the DMV).

Now I get to pay for more trailhead access? Really? Can you PLEASE make this fee covered under the (not so) all-encompassing America the Beautiful pass?

Again - I don't mind paying my fair share, but I do mind paying over and over and over again for the same thing in a different spot after I've already purchased a much more expensive pass that should have covered it to begin with.

Get us one pass that covers everything and stick to it, please.
