Comments: Fees

Unfortunately, I cannot attend the meetings as I will be heading south this coming week. I would like to say that I understand the need to limit the number of hikers, parking is a problem right now.

I am the organizer of our Black Butte Ranch Thursday hiking group and I'm troubled by the per person cost.

As the group leader I have concerns:

Would I have to have the names of each hiker if I got permits for 6 hikers?

Then if someone cancelled would there be a refund?

Weather or forest fire can be a factor, would fees be refunded if the group was unable to hike?

Are dogs still allowed with no fee for them?

If you go with a group fee rather than a per person is there a way to notify you if I have a permit for 6 and only 5 show up to hike?

i would rather see a per car fee with perhaps a limit of the number of people in the car. One fee for 4 in the car and a higher fee for 6 in the car.

The other alternative would be to have a group hike fee like you do now for Pamilia.

Right now members our group enjoys the luxury of not having to plan more than a day or two in advance as to wether or not they will hike on any particular day
