As a casual backpacker, I've enjoyed the beauty of the Willamette forest around Mt. Jefferson for many summers, and have no problem with some level of fee and/or limited permit numbers.

I am concerned about a plan that would have both per-person and per-night fees. Perhaps a per-night fee with a reasonable group size - say 6-8 would be a better arrangement?

I live near Salem, so Mt. Jefferson doesn't require me to overnight in a hotel before or after a backpack trip, but if the entry fees are high enough, I will be looking elsewhere.
