Dear Willamette National Forest,

To Whom It May Concern,

Recently I have been made aware of the recent changes being implemented within the Deschutes and Willamette National Forests' Wilderness areas.

The Forest Service should implement other, less restrictive management tools prior to implementing limited-entry day-use permits. Examples include educational programs focused on leave no trace practices, administrative signage, revegetation and restoration projects to address areas of concern, and installation of toilet facilities and/or wag bag stations to address human waste issues.

This sort of education goes beyond the trailhead, and into our communities, fostering better practices for the future.

Please reconsider.

Thank you.

Sincerely,

Andrew Grant
