

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 11/21/2019 7:15:27 AM

First name: Suze

Last name: Hammond

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Central Cascades Wilderness Project

Suze Hammond

1408 Billings

Oregon City, OR 97045

November 21, 2019

Dear Willamette National Forest,

The new quota-based fee structure for limited-entry day-use permits and overnight users, would restrict climbing access and create more barriers for low-income communities.

A portion of permits should be held for walk-up, first come first serve availability to allow climbers to attempt summits during good weather windows, which decreases potential weather-related accidents and the chances of getting lost, both of which result in increased search and rescue missions within Wilderness areas.

The Forest Service should consider an annual pass or volunteer pass to remove undue limitations and financial burden for individuals who frequent the permitted areas and support stewardship.

The Forest Service should partner with County and State officials to address parking issues at trailheads.

Managing and enforcing parking would self-limit the number of people on trail systems.

A good friend needs this to help restrain her migraine problem and keep herself healthy. She is a professional artist, and as often the case, has a severely limited income.

Sincerely,

Suze Hammond