Comments: It is not just the southern border, the Laguna Madre and the Rio Grande River under attack. Can you imagine 475 oil and gas wells in LBJ National Grasslands? It would be monstrous. A total of 1530 new wells in public lands across Texas...on 1.9 million acres of national forests and grasslands, including drilling thousands of feet under Lake Conroe, the principal drinking water source for thousands of people in Montgomery County. We can't drink oil contaminated water. The assault on our lands and our water is real, pervasive and poisonous.
