Comments: The proposal under academic, environmental, and to a point moal pretexts, is devastating. As someone who has surveyed throughout the Daniel Boone and seen the sour negative effects logging has left on the ecosystem and the locals, it disgusting to see the complete lack of foresight this project has. Times have changed, you can't log like there's thousands upon thousands (millions, honestly) of acres of old growth forest. This isn't the 1820s early 1900s or even the 50's. Times and ecosystems have changed since then. Locals in the area don't trust you to take care of the forest for future generations. This plan needs scrapped and start from scratch again to actually consider ecological effects. I shouldn't have to explain to people who are supposedly trained in forest ecology and health as to why this plan doesn't check any boxes.
