Comments: Roadless Rule Changes

I for one would rather see no changes to the existing regulations, versus choosing one of the proposed changes by this administration - especially the preferred choice. This place is special, unique, irreplaceable and beautiful as is.

Let's look at other ways to harvest timber and preserve ecological diversity, wildlife, and recreational opportunities before we open up thousands of square miles to road building. When roads get built-first comes men and equipment, then men with guns, and then concrete trucks and men with hammers. It's been repeated over and over again since the founding of this nation. Thoughtful, incremental changes best serve the Tongass National Forest and future generations of Americans.

Thank you for your thoughtful evaluation of the long term best uses of our public lands, John Avila
