Comments: All National Forests must remain under 2001 Roadless Rule

Alternative 1 must be the preferred alternative.

The rationale used to justify the 2001 Roadless Area Conservation Rule remains the same after 18 years.

Alaska NF roadless areas are precious to the world, not just Alaska or the US, for all the reasons cited in the original 2001 rule.

That rule was a well-researched, almost endlessly commented upon and reviewed rule before adoption. There is no reason to reverse this decision. Keep it!
