Comments: Wilderness Overnight Camping Permit Fees

To Whom It May Concern:

My main concern is not so much the fee that may be charged, but the ability to be able to plan ahead for a particular date. In the past, once a year, a brother and I have planned two-night back packing trips in the Jefferson, Three Sisters and Waldo Lake Wildernesses. We usually need to plan these several months in advance. This coming year a possible third party would like to join us. In his job he needs to plan way ahead of time to get it scheduled. In a new system, how will our ability to do such planning be affected? And, if our plans changed, how will that be accommodated, if at all?
