Comments: I've lived in rural, forested, mountainous areas of Oregon my entire life. Some of the things I appreciate most about this place is its clean water, clean air, beautiful landscapes and pristine wilderness. For the Forest Service to be considering using land as the host site of a natural gas pipeline, is to me, unconscionable. This project needs to be stopped, for good! There is no new land. This is space we will not get back. And the risks far outweigh the temporary, fleeting "rewards" of this proposed project. I fully, with my whole mind and body object to the Jordan Cove LNG project in every regard.
