I am the project manager for the badlands trail system and the president of Utah OHV advocates. I think Ashley national forest is one of the very finest ran agencies in the state and I work with many others. My main comment is we've been signing hundreds of miles of trails on and off national forest and the biggest problem is making a new cut on roadless areas. I've done a lot of research I have helped widen 50 inch to 64 inch and I would like to see that stretched to 72 inches maximum. The width of a side-by-side that the manufactures put out available to the public is 72 inches and they are restricted in many areas because there 72 inches or less. If you go over 72 inches it becomes a road. I would like to see 72 inches to become the new normal in the roadless area. Like I say anything over that would become a road. Please consider my proposal and I will be glad to help as a volunteer widen some of these areas if allowed. My phone number is 801-573-3384. Email bstewart1933@yahoo.com.
