Comments: Roadless Tongass

Alternative No. 1 is the only acceptable choice with regard to the Tongass. ANY amount of road building will damage the precious ecosystem as road building itself is so intrusive to an area. In addition, any human traffic in any amount will further erode the quality of the area and life for the animals and the native populations. I am totally opposed to opening up the Tongass. Humans have destroyed too much of our Earth's biosphere already. We MUST protect the few areas that are left if we are to maintain quality of life for the rest of the planet.
