Comments: I oppose any changes to the 2001 Roadless Act for the Tomhas. Please stick with alternative 1, no changes to the current policy. This is the worlds last great intact wilderness and currently supports local economies and natural ecosystems in its current state. Any further development for natural resource extraction or road development would distrust this largely intact tract of wilderness.

This wilderness area should be preserved for future generations and the benefit of both humans and other forms of life that rely on this intact large natural area.
