Comments: This land should not be taken off of the current protection it is afforded. It serves many benefits that could easily be lost if resource extraction is allowed to take place in the coming years. In addition to the loss of habitat and disastrous effects for the wildlife that inhabit the land, and it's valuable carbon dioxide offset, its natural beauty will most assuredly be diminished if these practices of resource extraction are allowed to take place. The old growth forests that exist here are in crucial need of our country's respect, not it's green light for abuse. In the world we currently live in, we cannot afford the loss of such a land. It provides a much higher value left alone.
