Comments: Dear U.S. Forest Service decision-makers,

I am writing to ask you to leave the Roadless Rule intact for the Tongass by selecting the "no action" alternative. The Tongass is home to many species who are already under great threat due to global climate change. Moreover, we as the human race face threats of mass natural disasters, displacement of people's, and loss of human life due to the effects of global climate change. The Tongass is a massive carbon sink-- therefore keeping it intact would slow the effects of global climate change to some degree, in doing so, alleviating it's negative effects on humans. I humbly ask you to please leave the roadless rule in effect and select the no action alternative.

Sincerely,

Chelsea Drake Ambrose
