Comments: I am lily i am 10 and i am in fourth grade. Our class is learning about national parks i think it is a bad idea to cut down most of the trees to stop wild fires because animals live there and it is there home but also if it is a natural fire it is fine but if it is a human made fire it is bad. i feel like cutting down the trees could help but i think it would cause more damage to the animals than help the animals from getting hurt from fires. if we could do this we could help stop fires if they do for with water instead.
