Comments: I am a former resident of Southeast Alaska, and have lived in two towns surrounded by the national forest. I am among those who feel this is an urgent matter. I am strongly in favor of a no action policy, in other words, to let the roadless area remain roadless, in perpetuity. Not only are human values of solitude and recreation thus preserved, but important plant and Animal communities. I will also speak to the value of a large forest that provides oxygen into our atmosphere. We in the US have no control of what happens in the Amazon and on other continents, in that regard, so we must do all that is in our power to preserve this area from loggingRespectfully- A Holladay
