Comments: About 51 years ago Haw Creek Falls was the place my wife and I spent our honey moon so it has a special place in our hearts. I have spent lots of time there though not in recent years. I would be against changing the format from the current usage one. The folks who do use these kind of primitive sites are having a harder time in finding them. These same folks are also in the group that will show up as lesser use areas but like I said these sites are so important to them. Please take my comments to your heart and think about what I hope I was able to pass on to you. These sites as they are now are so important to a lesser population of folks but are still important.

Thank you
