

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 12/17/2019 9:00:00 AM

First name: Mary

Last name: S.

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Tongass Exemption from the Roadless Rule

To whom it may concern.

PLEASE CHOOSE THE NO ACTION ALTERNATIVE ON THE ROADLESS RULE

Salmon, cod, sea birds are dying off. Now it not the time to increase the climate emergency that is happening. Do not cut more trees. We need them

The sovereign Tribes' of Alaska's Southeast (16 tribal entities) and the City of Skagway, AK endorsed the Roadless No Action Alternative.

* Industrial logging of the roadless areas will degrade other important regional economic drivers like the commercial and sport fishing industries, wildlife populations-including species like deer which are important for subsistence uses, scenic resources and recreation, and tourism. The Roadless Rule protects many of the world-class, old-growth forest environments that fish and wildlife depend on, American people treasure and Alaskans rely on for their collective livelihoods and quality of life.

Sincerely

Mary Sarumi

[Position]