

Data Submitted (UTC 11): 12/17/2019 9:00:00 AM

First name: Beth

Last name: Watson

Organization:

Title:

Comments: Tongass roadless

I don't like the idea of taking the entire Tongass and opening it to logging. The Tongass represents our continent's Amazon keeping carbon emissions in check. Since this administration cares little for the environment and is enthusiastic about quick rich schemes at the cost of our future this is a disaster. I would support SOME maybe ? selective cutting because I understand the need for economy. Leave our few vestiges of wilderness land be. I'm appalled that one of the institutions meant to protect our lands have so blatantly turned their back on all the scientists employed in their agency. I'm not a tree hugger. But I've been all over our country and these lands need us to manage them. Yes that means ranching, logging etc but listen to your scientists. They aren't tree huggers either. Cutting does need to be done, grazing is important. Don't do it all at once. Have test plot areas, research done more. Trees are incredibly renewable but some need preserved for their worth in keeping a lab for us to not only appreciate but use as a living lab.

Sent from my iPhone

[Position]