Comments: Comments to oppose modification to the Roadless Rule

Dear U.S. Forest Service,

The Roadless Rule currently protects more than half of the nearly 17-million-acre Tongass National Forest in Alaska, part of the largest remaining temperate rainforest on Earth. Please consider the impact that YOUR actions will leave on the planet that your children and grandchildren will inherit. I implore you, don't cut forest protections in the wild roadless areas of the Tongass National Forest.

Sincerely,

Emily Bingham
