U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

As a lifelong fly fisher and supporter of the Alaskan wilderness areas I urge you to maintain roadless protections. The economy of Alaska as well as the health of the fisheries depend on it.

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Tongass National Forest and in supporting its fish and wildlife-based industries for almost 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Catherine Cornell
