U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

It is extremely important to leave the world better a better place for the future generations to enjoy. Raping the land for profit is unacceptable. If we choose to do nothing or act in manner which hurts the environment our grandchildren will know we were ignorant and uncaring about the world.

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Tongass National Forest and in supporting its fish and wildlife-based industries for almost 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

John R. Haycook
