U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

Someday there will be no wild places left if we keep invading them with roads, development, and cell towers. The animals will be gone, and the people whose livelihoods depend on these animals will have no work.

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Chugach and Tongass National Forest and in supporting their associated fish and wildlife-based industries for more than 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77, by selecting the 'no action' alternative. Roadless areas are an important of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Estelle Disch
