Comments: I would ask that the Forest Service provide more specifics in this proposal. It does. It seem right that there would be approval in a blanket way before specific areas are chosen for harvest, burn or treatment. There are so many stakeholders who plan use months and even years in advance and the Service holds them to high standards and specific planning. Wouldn't it be right that the forest service would provide a similar level of detail to constituents and stakeholders prior to approval of such sweeping changes?
