Comments: I have recently moved to Rabun county to enjoy the mountain lifestyle. I am disturbed to find out that there are now plans to log approximately a third of our cherished National Forest. While I realize that logging has always been a part of managing the forest, this seems excessive.

In addition, Rabun county is growing an eco-tourism economy. I feel that is better for the forest and the local economy to have non-destructive tourism rather than commercial logging. I feel like these stake-holders are being ignored by commercial logging interests.
