U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

The curse of society today is development of areas that are best left alone. The developers who wish to change Alaska's roadless rule seek only to rape the landscape and then leave Alaska with their ill-gotten gains. Please don't give into temptations of fancy dinners, children college expenses, or the need for a new car.

Stand your ground, there isn't any reason to change the rule!

Corruption runs rampant in all forms of our government today, don't let the logging industry damage areas set aside for our wildlife.

Please leave the Roads rule unchanged, untampered and aloneSincerely,

Bruce Brewer
