U.S. Forest Service Alaska Roadless Rule Committee:

I am highly in favor of supporting the roadless rule.

I live in tenakee springs Alaska, right in the center of the tongass national forest.

My wife and I live a subsistence lifestyle. We depend on healthy forests and waters for our meat, fish, and what we gather.

I am a registered Alaskan hunting guide. I make all my income guiding in the tongass forest. Removing the roadless rule will greatly impact my livelihood as well. It doesn't make economic sense in the long run.

Thank you,

Justin Moody

The Roadless Rule has been instrumental in conserving the Tongass National Forest and in supporting its fish and wildlife-based industries for almost 20 years. Please uphold the Rule's protections for important fish and wildlife areas, including the Tongass 77. Roadless areas are an important source of food, jobs, and income through commercial, subsistence, and recreational fishing. Salmon are part of Alaska's culture and we must protect them and their spawning streams. Please do not roll back roadless area protections for habitat that our irreplaceable fish and wildlife populations need to survive.

Sincerely,

Justin Moody
